

Abstract Of The Disclosure

An aircraft antenna includes an aerodynamic housing structured for attachment to an outer surface of an aircraft, and the housing contains an 5 electromagnetic radiator and tuned over a first band of frequencies potentially to produce secondary radiations in at least a second band of frequencies, and a suppression filter effective at the frequencies of the secondary radiations.